

Lengyel won't be reappointed chief of police

By Dennis Grubaugh
Managing Editor

GRANITE CITY — Apparently because he wasn't satisfied in the role, Police Chief James Lengyel won't be re-appointed Tuesday night when the mayor presents his annual appointments.

"He's been a terrific chief, but it's not been his cup of tea," Mayor Von Dee Cruse said Friday afternoon.

Cruse said he has decided upon a replacement, but will wait until Tuesday to announce it. Other City Hall observers said Friday that they expect longtime veteran Lt. Don Knight to assume the role.

Lengyel

Lengyel has been out of the office for several days and was unavailable for comment. He was appointed police chief June 1, 1988, replacing Chief Robert Astorian, who retired to become the director of Madison County Probation and Court Services.

become the fifth chief of police in Granite City in little more than four years. Mayor Von Dee Cruse did not reappoint longtime Police Chief Ron Veizer when Cruse was first elected in 1983. His appointee, Bill Barris, resigned under pressure in 1987. Astorian was then appointed.

"I know how this is going to look," said Cruse, "but the truth is Jim Lengyel told me several months ago that if I was re-elected he wanted to go back down to captain. If anybody's got his life planned out, it's him."

Cruse said Lengyel did well as chief. "I think the morale is higher now than it's been since I was mayor."

"I haven't been in the police department 10 times since I was mayor. Jim keeps me informed — he comes up to my office."

Lengyel, 41, has been with the department 18 years. He has worked in all sections and served as captain in charge of the patrol and detective divisions of the force.

"I hate it about Jim," said Cruse. "He's a friend. His wife's father (Dick Reber) ran my campaign for me when I first ran for office years ago."

Mayor mum on others

GRANITE CITY — With appointments and re-appointments due Tuesday night, Mayor Von Dee Cruse said: "Bring along a pencil; there will be some changes."

Cruse is expected to appoint a 1st Ward alderman to finish the term of Everett Morlen, who died in March.

Possibly the mayor will name a city engineer to replace Roger Hadley, who recently resigned.

One sure change will be the replacement of Joe Williams on the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners. Cruse asked Williams to resign more than a year ago but Williams refused.

Another likely change will be the replacement of City Inspector Ery DeRousse. Cruse said Thursday he had not made up his mind concerning the inspection and sanitation department as a whole, but DeRousse said he received a letter of recommendation from Cruse about a week ago and that he considers the letter a bad sign.

Other major positions that should be filled by appointment or reappointment Tuesday night are:

FIREFIGHTERS LOOK over the remains of the building in the 1900 block of State Street.

Fires keep fighters busy

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Two firefighters were injured when fire virtually demolished a vacant apartment building and storefront at 1909 State St. at 9:25 p.m. Thursday.

Neither firefighter was seriously hurt, Fire Chief Charles Bernaix said Friday morning.

The Fire Department's resources were strained at the time because part of its men and equipment were fighting a house fire on Cayuga Street when the State Street fire alarm came in. Fireman Jeff Reiter was treated for smoke inhalation in the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was released.

Fire Capt. Jerry Wallace, acting shift commander, was injured when he stepped on a nail. He was treated at the SEMC emergency room and released to go home, Bernaix said.

Hot spots inside the structure flared up after the main blaze was extinguished about 5:30 a.m. and kept firefighters at the scene most of the day Friday.

The rear of the two-story brick building collapsed during the blaze.

Three firefighters were inside the gutted structure at 8:30 a.m. Friday and a steady stream of water was being used to douse the still-smoking ruins.

Two days earlier, Charles Tilson, 57, of Granite City was charged with criminal trespass to property on a complaint signed by Daryl Layman of Pontoon Beach, owner of the apartment building.

Tilson allegedly had moved into temporary living quarters in the storefront without permission, Layman said.

Related story, Page 6A

The Madison Fire Department was asked to assist at the State Street fire under a mutual aid agreement. Emergency fire equipment in Granite City was stretched thin due to the Cayuga Street fire, Bernaix said.

The $25,000 residential fire at the single-family home of Dorothy Thomas at 2614 Cayuga St. started at 8:50 p.m. Thursday. Firefighters remained at that blaze for two hours, limiting the amount of equipment available to fight the State Street fire.

Bricks and concrete blocks were strewn over the parking area next to the State Street apartment building as if something might have exploded at the back, Bernaix said.

A narrow parking lot on the north side of the building is used by Central Bank customers and employees. The storefront quarters formerly housed an electric car shop and a small church. (See FIRE, Page 6A)

Redistricting to be decided

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Only a handful of parents turned out for Wednesday's school board hearing on Tuesday night for the third and final public hearing on proposed redistricting.

The District 9 school board will vote May 2 on the proposal, which will affect four schools.

One part of the proposal calls for children who live in the 2200 blocks of Adams, Benton, Cleveland, Delmar, Edison, State and Grand to be redistricted to Prather School from Niedringhaus. Bus transportation will be provided.

The measure will affect all incoming children while those currently enrolled at Niedringhaus will be given the option to stay.

W. Richard Brinkhoff, elementary education administrative assistant, added that after those in the 2200 blocks and seeking not to transfer are accommodated, kindergarten-age children who already have a sibling at Niedringhaus will be given priority.

Such decisions would take effect on the eighth day of the full term.

Stephanie Walden, who lives in the 2200 block of Delmar Ave., said she was uncertain whether she should register her kindergarten child at Niedringhaus or at Prather. Walden currently has two children enrolled at Niedringhaus.

"You should always register your child at your home school whether you plan a transfer or not," Ellen Voyles, Niedringhaus principal, said.

No transfers will be allowed in or out of Niedringhaus School until after Labor Day when stabilized (sixth-day) enrollment figures will be available.

This will cause some difficulty for Pat Pryor, whose daughter attends Niedringhaus on a hardship transfer. Like other children, her child will have to attend her "home" school, at least until after the holiday. Then, space permitting, she could be allowed to "transfer in" to Niedringhaus.

"After the people in the 2200 blocks are taken care of, you will be given first choice," Superintendent Gib Walmsley told Pryor.

"There may not be a space for your daughter — it's a reality and we have to tell you that it might happen."

Walmsley said the 2200 blocks will not be redistricted again in the immediate future, a concern brought up at another of the hearings.

The concern surrounded the impact that the construction of housing at the Army base, the Charles Melvin Price Support Center, would have on Prather enrollment; 100 apartments are being built. Brinkhoff did not have estimates at that meeting but provided them Tuesday night.

The district currently has 69 students from the existing 64 housing units at the base. Of those, 43 are elementary level, 10 are junior high level and 16 are high school level.

Brinkhoff said that Renee Miller, director of the Army center's housing, estimated that the district would receive 150 to 200 students by the fall of 1990 when construction of 100 new units is completed.

Another part of the "home" calls for the redistricting of children living in the 600, 1700, and 3200-3500 buildings of the Kirkpatrick Homes from Webster School to Marshall School. About 19 children will be immediately affected and given the option to attend either of the schools.

in a penalty of two to five years. Pam Partney was not charged.

Judge Duff-Williams said the question of guilt or innocence would probably hinge on two questions: What constitutes a legal residence and whether the affidavits were made in the belief that they were false statements.

The Partneys contend they believed it was legal to use their business address when they signed the affidavits.

Granite City Police Lt. Don Knight investigated the charges. He was the only witness called during the probable cause hearing Friday.

Under questioning by Assistant State's Attorney Richard Rybak, Knight said Don Partney's right to vote was challenged by Election Judge Betty Lou Tester and Dave Partney was challenged by Election Judge Kathi Williams.

Under questioning by defense attorney Leon Scroggins, Knight said that neither Don nor Dave (See PARTNEYS, Page 6A)

Investigative squad probes house fire, woman's death

GRANITE CITY — The Major Case Squad of Greater St. Louis is investigating a house fire where a woman's body was found early Saturday morning in the 2100 block of Bryan Avenue.

Firefighters responding to the scene at 2:40 a.m. Saturday found the body of Sheila Renee Hunt, 32, a lifetime resident. She was pronounced dead at the scene at 3:15 a.m. Saturday by Madison County Deputy Coroner Loren Davis. A pet dog also was killed in the fire.

Davis, who knew the victim's family, identified Miss Hunt. Death was of a suspicious nature, he said.

The Major Case Squad of Greater St. Louis was asked by local police authorities to investigate the case Saturday morning, Det. Sgt. Rich Schardan said.

A crowd of onlookers stood watching detectives and fire department officials surveying the fire scene at 9:30 a.m. Saturday as Major Case Squad investigators began assembling here.

Details about the fire were not being released Saturday, but two young men were being questioned, it was learned from an unofficial source at the scene.

The body was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and an autopsy was scheduled to be performed at noon Saturday. No other information on the investigation was available at the Press-Record/Journal's deadline.

An obituary appears on Page 6A in today's issue.

Partneys face trial June 5

By Andy Stiering

EDWARDSVILLE — Granite City Fourth Ward Alderman Dan Partney and his brothers, Don and Dave, will go on trial for perjury June 5 in Madison County court.

Associate Judge Ellar Duff-Williams ruled Friday that enough evidence was presented to warrant a trial. The three are accused of perjury in connection with affidavits they signed at a polling place April 4 during the city-township election.

Don and Dave Partney swore in affidavits that their legal residence was 2500 Missouri Ave., where the family business, Granite Sheet Metal Works, is located. Dan Partney and his wife, Pam, signed supporting affidavits for both Don and Dave.

Don Partney is charged with two counts of perjury and his brothers with one count each. Perjury is a Class 3 felony and upon conviction could result

Water mains flushed

Illinois-American Water Co. will begin flushing the local water distribution system Monday, May 1. Hydrants are flushed to improve water quality by removing accumulated mineral deposits. Customers may experience cloudy water, but running the water for a short time will clear it up. Company officials said the water company "hotline" telephone number, 1-800-422-2782, for information.

Police

Caught sleeping: Warrant catches up with driver

Mark Douglas Ely, 28, of Collinsville was arrested April 26 in the 2000 block of Washington Avenue, where he allegedly was asleep at the wheel of an auto with the ignition key turned on. The car was parked at the side of a business lot.

A brown paper bag containing three full cans of beer and a cooler holding a can of beer were in the vehicle.

Ely was served a Pontoon Beach warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol.

He also was charged with driving while his license was suspended and illegal transportation of alcohol. He posted $400 bail and was released, pending a hearing.

Sexual abuse charged in Granite City incident

GRANITE CITY — A Granite City man was charged Wednesday with aggravated criminal sexual abuse in a warrant issued through the Madison County State's Attorney's Office.

William Gregory Krismanich, 40, of the 2500 block of Lincoln Avenue was booked on the felony charge for the alleged sexual abuse of a 16-year-old girl.

He appeared in the Granite City Court at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday. Bond was set at $25,000.

A mittimus was issued and Krismanich was transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville at 11:45 p.m. the same day.

Judge-bailiff court security training given

Third and 20th Circuit judges and sheriff personnel from Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties have attended court-security training provided by the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission.

Judges and other administration-of-justice personnel attended a mid-afternoon session at the Holiday Inn, Collinsville, April 25. Bailiffs attended all day April 26 at the Madison County Sheriff's Department in Edwardsville.

The program was presented by William P. Waldron, administrative assistant for the Security Court Services Department, Cook County Sheriff's Office.

Arranging for the training were Stephen Kernan, chief judge of the 20th Circuit, P.J. O'Neill, chief judge, 3rd Circuit, St. Clair Sheriff Mearl Justus and Madison County Sheriff Bob Church.

Waldron said there is a potential for violence and disruption in any criminal or civil justice setting.

The prevention of an incident in these settings is critical to a safe and well-operated judicial circuit, he said. Some of the issues covered included:

- Daily threats.
- Entry screening.
- Bombs.
- Personal security and transport.
- Major trials.
- Judicial security.

Dixon steps up drug war in Senate caucus effort

WASHINGTON — Sen. Alan J. Dixon, D-Belleville, a member of the Senate International Narcotics Control Caucus, has called for new solutions, greater emphasis on drug education programs at home, and crop eradication efforts abroad.

Dixon's goal is to stem the rise of drug use in the United States. He appeared at the first hearing of the Caucus in the 101st Congress on April 19.

Dixon noted the United States, with only 5 percent of the world's population consumes 50 percent of the world's drugs, and said the time had come for new solutions.

Dixon spoke of the difficult challenge of addressing drug-dependent South and Central American economies. Dixon said, "Many of the countries of Central and South America are desperately poor. Their economies would collapse without the monies from the drug trade and hundreds of thousands of people would lose their way of living. Fifty-thousand thousand to 600,000 farmers alone are involved in harvesting coca leaves. How are we to reduce production when it is such a mainstay in the lives of so many?"

"The Medellin and Cali cartels in Columbia," Dixon continued, earn in one year as much as the net revenues of some of this country's most well known corporations. Drugs rank higher than coffee as Columbia's principal foreign exchange earner.

In terms of cocaine dollars which return to the source country, Peru's cocaine exports equal 23 to 27 percent of its legal exports and Bolivia's cocaine export equals 53 to 95 percent of its legal exports. Given such statistics, is it any wonder our crop eradication programs have met with little success?"

Dixon also welcomed Peter Bensinger, former administrator of the Drug Enforcement Administration, who appeared as a witness before the Caucus. Said Dixon, "He was not only an outstanding director of the Illinois Department of Corrections, but he also served with distinction as chief of the Chicago Crime Commission and the Federal Drug Enforcement Agency."

Questioned by an officer, Cole denied being involved in an accident. He said his injuries resulted from an incident at a tavern on Edwardsville Road, where two unidentified men beat him up.

A witness to the incident alleged seeing Cole's auto going east on Illinois 162; after passing the traffic light at Nameoki Road, the car veered off the road to the right and struck a utility pole.

The vehicle then skidded out of control in a grassy area and flipped upside down, throwing the driver from the auto against the fence, the witness contended.

The Granite City Steel fence and Illinois Power Co. light pole were damaged.

Charges against driver

Michael A. Harlan, 29, of the 2000 block of Benton Street was booked on four charges after his arrest April 20 at East 23rd and Charles streets.

Harlan was allegedly speeding when his car was clocked on radar in the 2900 block of Maryville Road. He was unable to produce a driver license, and an open bottle of alcohol allegedly was between his feet in the auto.

He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, speeding, driving while his license was suspended and illegal transportation of alcohol.

After posting $300 bail, he was released pending a May 11 appearance at the Madison County Court house in Edwardsville.

Stephanie N. Harlan, 36, of Benton Street, a passenger in the vehicle, was charged with illegal possession of alcohol. She was released to appear May 29 in the Granite City court.

Pontoon police seek union

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTON BEACH — Business agents from Teamsters Local 525 asked the Board of Trustees at the board's April 25 meeting to voluntarily recognize the union as representing members of the police department.

The announcement appeared to come as a surprise to some members of the board, although Bob Abel, chairman of the village Police Committee, said he was aware that several police officers were interested in the union proposal.

Chris Zahn, a Local 525 assistant business representative from Alton, said village police employees had expressed an interest in becoming members of the Teamsters.

"Does that mean their contract has to be negotiated?" asked Trustee Loren Madison.

"Yes," Zahn replied.

The request for union representation doesn't have to go through the board, the business agent explained.

"It means they just want our blessing," Abel said.

"This is a very serious matter. Who wants to get into the union?" Mayor Glen Wilson asked.

Without revealing specific names, the business agent said 51 percent or more of the department's members have signed cards.

"Approximately 15 department members, including the police chief all the way down, have indicated interest" in union representation, Zahn said later.

The Pontoon Beach Police Department has nine full-time police officers, including Chief Chet Ballew and Assistant Chief James Denham, four dispatchers and one person serving half and half as an administrative aide and dispatcher.

"This just came up and I'm not against it, but I would like us to table it until the next meeting," Wilson said.

He suggested the union representatives meet with members of the board's Police Committee to discuss the proposal.

Zahn agreed to meet with the trustees and representatives of the police department.

Spring Cleanup Day set for May 6

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

EAGLE PARK — In addition to making a concentrated effort to stop out-of-town drug users and rowdy drunks from discharging weapons and fighting in Eagle Park, Venice Township Road Commissioner Ed Salmond has announced plans for a general cleanup and street repair program in the entire township.

Spring Cleanup Day will be

Saturday, May 6, when residents of unincorporated areas in Benjamin Addition, Rock Road and Eagle Park may set large unwanted items outside to be picked up by a township truck.

Furniture, mattresses and large appliances in disrepair and no longer wanted will be collected, Salmond said.

Specifically targeted for street improvement projects are roads in unincorporated areas of Benjamin Addition, near the Tri-City Regional Port District, and Hare, Harrison, Terry, Carver and Hill streets in Eagle Park.

"North Street, especially the north end near the port, is in very bad shape," Salmond said.

He said he will ask newly elected Township Supervisor Richard Paterson to re-assign some Community Development funds from the township coffers to resurface with asphalt North Street and other roads in disrepair.

A total of $61,767 is available for street improvements but $55,000 of this amount is set aside for Race Street. Part of Race Street also is in the City of Madison.

Salmond plans to ask township officials to utilize for street improvements about half of $36,030 currently allocated to handicapped accessibility projects, he said.

Wright's ethics not bringing mail, phone calls

By Jason Moody

WASHINGTON — If the letters and phone calls of constituents back home are any gauge, the ethical quandaries of House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, have not become the political liability that many predicted they would be.

The offices of U.S. Reps. Jerry Costello and Richard Durbin as well as both U.S. senators from Illinois, Democrats Alan Dixon and Paul Simon, report receiving very few calls and even less mail on the topic.

"It's just not a burning issue in my district," said Costello, D-Belleville, whose office reported getting only two form letters on Wright's conduct.

A spokesman for Dixon said his office received only two handwritten letters and eight form letters, while the office of

'It's just not a burning issue in my district'

Rep. Jerry Costello

Durbin, D-Springfield, reported "very few" phone calls or letters.

"We are getting tons of stuff on gun control and the Savings and Loan crisis but little on Wright," said a Simon aide.

Minority Whip Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., said in late April that the Democratic House leadership would try to talk Wright into relinquishing his post — to save the party and the Texas Democratic from going through "the cross-examination" when he goes before the ethics panel, known formally as the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct.

However, Costello said, based on his talks with other members, Wright has not become the kind of political embarrassment to the Democrats that Gingrich predicted.

"I think the people who are really concerned with this issue live inside the (Washington) Beltway," he said. "The people I talk to in schools and at town meetings are more concerned with the everyday issues."

The 12-member, bipartisan ethics committee voted unanimously to charge Wright of breaking House rules on 69 occasions. He is the first House speaker in history to be charged formally with violating the institution's rules.

Costello said one of the most serious charges was that Wright deliberately evaded House limits on outside income through bulk sales of his book, "Reflections of a Public Man."

However, both Durbin and Costello said they would not comment on the specific charges against Wright until the ethics committee delivers its disciplinary recommendations to the House.

Although recent polls show that a large majority of Americans think Wright should give up the post of House speaker if the charges are upheld, they also show a lack of interest in the issue.

In a Washington Post national poll released Tuesday, 37 percent of those questioned correctly identified Wright's political party while 46 percent chose "don't know/no opinion."

Politicians divided on Haine hiring Weber

By Terry Hillig
Staff affiliate

EDWARDSVILLE — Democrats are talking about political damage. Republicans are talking about political standing. They are reacting to Madison County State's Attorney William Haine's hiring of Don Weber — a former state's attorney and a Republican as an assistant prosecutor.

Tom Long, county Republican chairman said Haine has increased his political stock by hiring Weber.

"I've always respected Bill Haine, but my respect for him has just about tripled in the last week," he said.

"He's trying to do the best he can for all the people of Madison County," Long said. "Don Weber is one of the best prosecutors in Illinois and will be a tremendous asset to the office. Everybody's a winner in this case."

"Why should (Haine) care about the political leaders when it was the voters who put him in office?" Long asked.

Haine said he planned to meet with County Democratic Chairman Bill Harrison of Granite City and other party leaders to explain his action. Haine said he hired Weber because he needed a skilled prosecutor and Weber is one of the best.

"Politically, this is probably very damaging," said John Rekowski, the county's public defender and a Democratic precinct committeeman. The controversy could thwart any ambition Haine has for higher office, Rekowski said. "The criticism may blow over, but when tough decisions are made a few years from now, it could hurt him," said Rekowski.

Dick Allen, the incumbent state's attorney when he was defeated by Haine in last year's Democratic primary election, said many party leaders are angry with Haine.

Allen said Haine embarrassed many politicians and betrayed the Democratic Central Committee, which endorsed Haine over Allen in the primary. Haine would not have gotten the endorsement had the committee known Weber would be hired, Allen said.

Voters may not remember the controversy over Weber for long, but Democratic leaders will not forget, Allen predicted.

Bruce Cook, Democratic state central committeeman for the 21st Congressional District, said a state's attorney should hire assistants without regard to partisan politics. He said he has confidence in Haine and will give him the benefit of the doubt.

Still, Cook said, he is puzzled by the action.

"Why (Haine) would deliberately put himself in that position, I don't know," Cook said. He said many Democratic leaders in Madison County consider Weber "a political lowlife."

1990 truck, trailer stickers available

GRANITE CITY — Pickup truck and trailer renewal stickers for fiscal year 1990 are now being sold over the counter at more than 1,200 Illinois financial institutions, Secretary of State Jim Edgar has announced.

Included are, in Granite City, two Central Bank locations and three Magna Bank locations.

The renewal stickers are orange. They should be placed at the bottom center of the rear license plate before July 1.

Pickup trucks with "B" plates have a gross weight of 8,000 pounds and less, including the vehicle and maximum load. The fee for a "B" sticker is $48.

Small trailers with "TA" plates have a gross weight of 3,000 pounds and less, including the vehicle and maximum load. The fee for a "TA" sticker is $14.

"B" and "TA" renewal stickers also may be purchased at the four Secretary of State Motor Vehicle Facilities in Chicago, the Centennial Building and Dirksen Parkway drive-up windows in Springfield, or by mailing the renewal application to Springfield.

Elderhostel announced

The schedule of activities for Elderhostel, an education vacation for people 60 years of age and older, has been announced by the Office of Continuing Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Two separate weeks of activities, July 23-29 and Aug. 6-12, will be offered at the university this summer.

The three courses to be offered during the first week of the "30s" are "Big Bands of the '30s," "They Chose America" and "Russia Under Gorbachev."

During the week of Aug. 6, the course offerings will include "Mississippi Steamboats and Showboats," "Cahokia: The Great Prehistoric Metropolis" and "The Process and Product of a Musical Theater Production."

Elderhostel provides educational experiences for older people during the summer at various colleges and universities around the country at minimal cost. Seniors can enroll in up to three non-credit classes, which require no homework and no testing. In addition to the classes, there are usually a number of field trips to places of interest near college campuses.

Some senior citizens visit several different college campuses during the summer, while others make it a point to return to a favorite school year after year.

For a total cost of $235, senior citizens can participate at any one of more than 600 cooperating colleges and universities in almost any state in the country, as well as in Canada, Great Britain, Bermuda, Israel, Italy, Denmark, Finland, Norway, Holland, Sweden, Germany, Scotland, Wales and Mexico. The tuition covers room and board, all classes and extracurricular activities.

Most "students" are usually from other states; however, a limited number of local residents will be able to participate in the program since as commuters. The tuition for commuting participants is $180.

For further information, interested persons may contact the Office of Continuing Education at 682-3210.

Casimir Kicmal officiating. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery in Edwardsville. Memorials may be made to Holy Family Catholic Church.

Assault, trespass charged

GRANITE CITY — Charles Tilson, 57, of the 1900 block of State Street, was charged with criminal trespass to property following a report made by Daryl Layman of Pontoon Beach.

Layman alleged Tilson signed a contract to purchase real estate in the 1900 block of State Street about one month earlier. When Tilson could not secure a loan for the property, the contract was terminated, Layman said.

In the meantime, Tilson moved into the storefront property in temporary living quarters, which he allegedly was told to vacate several days later. Tilson, however, retained by Layman, authorities said. Layman alleged Tilson refused to leave.

When charged with trespassing, Tilson was already in the Granite City Jail, where he was being held on an aggravated assault charge.

Tilson was initially arrested at 8:55 p.m. April 24 after an incident at Goldie's Tavern, 1800 State St., where he allegedly threatened Carl Dahm of the 1800 block of State Street with a folded pocketknife.

Tilson was picked up at another tavern nearby where he appeared April 25 in the Granite City Court on the two charges and was released on a $2,000 recognizance bond pending a hearing.

Fires

Partney was administered an oath by the election judges when they signed the affidavits. Knight further said that when he interviewed Don and Dave Partney during his investigation neither man indicated believing he lied in giving 2500 Missouri Ave. as the legal residence.

Knight said that he found no towels, soap or bedding at 2500 Missouri Ave.

Over Scroggins' objection, Ryba was successful at getting entered into the record the fact that Dan Partney is an alderman and a precinct committee.

As such, he would presumably be familiar with voting regulations, including residency requirements.

Dan Partney was asked by a reporter whether he thought State's Attorney Bill Haine had brought the charges against him and his brothers for political reasons.

When the ceiling collapses it is difficult to get into this kind of fire and they (firefighters) let the roof vent itself," the chief said.

"I wasn't about to send anyone inside that building earlier," he said.

"We're listing the cause of the fire as undetermined right now. We can't reach the owner," Bernaix said about 11 a.m. Friday.

He said he understands "the initial fire call came from a police officer who was making a traffic stop in the vicinity."

Police Sgt. Jim Reader was the officer who first reported the fire, a police department member said.

Volunteers from the Madison Fire Department provided a pump and a deck gun. Granite City equipment used at the fire included the telescopic, aerial truck and two pumps.

On Cayuga Street, someone using a propane torch may have inadvertently started the fire, and two pump trucks were dispatched, Bernaix said.

Threads around the torch apparently ignited and the torch was thrown outside, but it must have hit the back door and ignited the porch, Bernaix said; the fire then spread to the kitchen and the attic area of the frame dwelling. The loss was estimated at $20,000 to the house and $5,000 to the contents.

The monetary damage at the apartment building fire was not determined.

We're Sorry!

In this week's Sale circular, we advertised Women's canvas oxfords with patches by Active Elements for 7.99 on page 8. Due to the manufacturer's inability to provide the Illinois state style will not be available. We will gladly substitute the Madras Field style. The Welch pattern shoe will not be available as advertised. No rain checks will be offered.

Also on page 8, we advertised Women's 100% cotton sandals by Scandal for 3.99. Unfortunately, due to high Customer demand, the beaded band style pictured will not be available. Sorry, no rain checks.

On page 16 we advertised Act II on page 1 for $1.99 for a single package. Unfortunately, the price should read 37¢ for a single package as the copy indicates. Also, the Low Salt variety is sold only in single packages.

We regret any inconvenience this may cause you.

education, is a former baseball player and coach at the high school. He will start his new job on a part-time basis this week and full-time at the end of the school year. He is retiring from teaching.

Champion was a 15-year-old sophomore leftfielder on the 1948 state champion baseball team; the only Warrior baseball team to win the state title. He later coached the team for many years.

Older men may remember that the state championship game against New Athens was won when the New Athens centerfielder lost a fly ball in the lights at Caterpillar Field in Peoria.

The New Athens centerfielder's name? Dorell Herzog, now better known as Whitey, skipper of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Asked about the incident, Champion seized the opportunity to clear up what he said was a widespread misconception.

"Whitey didn't drop the ball. He never saw it. It got above the lights."

Partneys

Partney was administered an oath by the election judges when they signed the affidavits.

Knight further said that when he interviewed Don and Dave Partney during his investigation neither man indicated believing he lied in giving 2500 Missouri Ave. as the legal residence.

Knight said that he found no towels, soap or bedding at 2500 Missouri Ave.

Over Scroggins' objection, Ryba was successful at getting entered into the record the fact that Dan Partney is an alderman and a precinct committee.

As such, he would presumably be familiar with voting regulations, including residency requirements.

Dan Partney was asked by a reporter whether he thought State's Attorney Bill Haine had brought the charges against him and his brothers for political reasons.

When the ceiling collapses it is difficult to get into this kind of fire and they (firefighters) let the roof vent itself," the chief said.

"I wasn't about to send anyone inside that building earlier," he said.

"We're listing the cause of the fire as undetermined right now. We can't reach the owner," Bernaix said about 11 a.m. Friday.

He said he understands "the initial fire call came from a police officer who was making a traffic stop in the vicinity."

Police Sgt. Jim Reader was the officer who first reported the fire, a police department member said.

Volunteers from the Madison Fire Department provided a pump and a deck gun. Granite City equipment used at the fire included the telescopic, aerial truck and two pumps.

On Cayuga Street, someone using a propane torch may have inadvertently started the fire, and two pump trucks were dispatched, Bernaix said.

Threads around the torch apparently ignited and the torch was thrown outside, but it must have hit the back door and ignited the porch, Bernaix said; the fire then spread to the kitchen and the attic area of the frame dwelling. The loss was estimated at $20,000 to the house and $5,000 to the contents.

The monetary damage at the apartment building fire was not determined.

Champion himself was a scout for the Philadelphia Phillies for nine years and the Kansas City Royals for the last two years.

His sons, Keith and Kirk, are both in professional baseball. Keith is in his second year as manager of the Cardinals A team in Savannah, Ga. Kirk is the pitching coach for the South Bend (Ind.) White Sox, an affiliate of the Chicago White Sox.

Champion said the most critical issue facing him in his new job will be finding qualified people to work in the district's programs.

His salary will be $20,000 a year, several thousand more than Barber made. Sykes and Kessel said the Park District was able to pay Champion more because he would not require insurance — a saving of about $4,200 a year.

The hiring became official at the Park Board meeting April 26.

Coincidentally, Champion will be inducted into the Granite City Sports Hall of Fame on Friday, May 5.

"It could be politically motivated," Partney said. "It will be a high-profile case with a lot of media coverage."

Partney was miffed that no charges had been brought against former Alderman Sharon Perjak in connection with a complaint he had signed, alleging disorderly conduct during the polling place incident at Prather School.

Partney produced a copy of a police report that said, in the words of the investigating officer, "Ms. Perjak was screaming and disrupted the voting procedure to the point that Ms. (Election Judge Winifred A.) Pointer felt that Ms. Perjak should be asked to leave."

Dan Partney said, "Bill Haine has opened a can of worms that he won't be able to close."

"And he won't be on my Christmas card list this year," he added.

day include: the fire chief and assistant chief, the police chief and assistant chief, the city comptroller, the city attorney and assistant city attorneys, the Planning and Zoning Board, and the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Finally, the mayor is responsible for appointing the chairperson of each of the City Council's committees.

The four new and three just re-elected aldermen will be sworn in Tuesday. City Clerk Bob Stevens said the old council would sit first for the purpose of completing any old business and then the seven April 4 council winners will be sworn in along with other city officials.

County legal secretaries will install officers

The May meeting of the Madison County Legal Secretaries Association will be held Tuesday at Tony's Restaurant in Alton.

The agenda for the meeting will include an initiation ceremony for the incoming 1989-1990 officers of the association. Attorney John A. Farrell will be the initiating officer at the ceremony. The dinner and meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Dinner reservations need to be made with Lynne Hullinger at 466-9080.

Quilters' Guild welcomes visitors

The Heartland Quilters' Guild will meet at 7 p.m. May 8 at the First Presbyterian Church, 237 Kansas St., Edwardsville.

Visitors are welcome. Those who wish more information may call 462-0376.

Saving memorabilia to be club's topic

The Friends of the Madison County Historical Museum will meet at 10:30 a.m. May 10 at the museum, 715 N. Main St., Edwardsville.

Professor David Huntley, director of the Southern Illinois University Museum, Edwardsville, will be the guest speaker. Huntley's program will be "Saving and Preserving Memorabilia." He will in detail explain what, when and how to preserve memorabilia in museums and at home.

All interested people are invited to attend. There also will be a short business meeting and election of officers. Participants may bring a sandwich and stay for lunch.

The museum welcomes visitors on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Group tours are also welcome and must be pre-arranged.

Volunteers are needed to help in the museum. Those who wish more information may call the museum at 656-7562.

Horseshoe Lake director speaks

The Nameoki Women's Club met at the Harold Brown Recreation Center on April 19 to hear speaker Lynn Wright, site superintendent of Horseshoe Lake State Recreation Area.

President Mary McCallum called the meeting to order. Bernadine Cooley led the group in prayer.

Program Chairman Delores Allen reported the club scrapbook was not yet complete. She then introduced Wright, who gave a presentation of the sequence of events leading to the establishment of the park.

According to Wright, the park covers 2,373 acres, with another 1,100 acres to be acquired. The site has a five-person staff, with someone always on duty. At the site are day use shelters, camping areas, hiking trails and other activities. Locally, few people use the park. Attendance in 1988 was 117,000 — one-fourth were local people.

The club's next meeting will be a trip to Pere Marquette State Park on May 17. Members must meet at the Brown Recreation Center by 10:15 a.m.

Donations for Phoenix Crisis Center were collected.

Several members were absent due to illness. Other members present were Mildred Branding, Mildred Jungels, Dorothy McCauley, Marian Mertz, Elsie Rodell, Marian Shelton, Irma Taylor, Ella Wade and Mabel Gertsch.

Garden Clubs hold executive meeting

Trish Haisler, director of District V Garden Clubs, began her second year with an organizational meeting with her executive board and presidents of the local clubs. The meeting was held April 19 at the Ramada Inn in Fairview Heights.

Clubs represented at the meeting were: Cahokia, Collinsville, Creative Gardeners, Fairview Heights, Garden Study, Holiday Shores, Lakeview and St. Clair County garden clubs.

All committee chairmen will serve a second term.

Haisler reported on the state convention and told of all the awards received. The awards will be presented at the District V Workshop scheduled for May 10 at the Collinsville Public Library. Lakeview Garden Club will be hostess club.

Club presidents gave brief reports on their activities planned for the coming year. Haisler will use this information for her report to the Garden Clubs of Illinois Inc. One of the activities of the district will be scheduled for Aug. 20 and 21 at Bellevue Area College.

Mary Muennich, flower show chairman, reported on the progress of plans for the district flower show scheduled for Nov. 18 at EAC. The schedule is about ready to send to the state chairman for review.

After the meeting adjourned, the group enjoyed lunch.

Opti-Mrs. group picks officers' slate

The April meeting of the Granite City Opti-Mrs. Club was held at Ravanelli's Restaurant. Hostesses were Jo Meyer, Jane Giese and Mildred Branding.

The invocation was given by Branding, and the Optimist Creed was led by Tommie Kirchhoff.

Dorothy Melvin, president, led the business portion and committee reports were given.

The slate of officers for the coming year presented were: Parrish, president; Virginia

John, vice president; Dorothy McCauley, secretary; and Branding, treasurer.

Board members selected were: Dorothy Melvin, Louise Anderson and Linda Irwin. They will be voted on at the May meeting and installation will be in the fall.

Games were played and prizes awarded to McCauley, Kirchhoff, Edna Bickel, Nellie Jennings and Analee Reeves. Others present were Ann Little and Muriel Viehl.

Ladies Coterie meets at church

The Ladies Coterie met at the Niedergaush Methodist Church on April 20. Shirley Schwendemann served a dessert luncheon to 17 members.

The meeting was called to order by President Helen Friedman. The Club Collect was led by the president.

Donna Kagy reported that the May installation of officers would be held at a 12:30 luncheon May 18 at Rusty's Restaurant in Edwardsville.

The newly elected officers for 1989-90 are: Joyce Albers, president; Virginia John, vice president; Schwendemann, recording secretary; Ella Wade, assistant secretary; and Esther Vasileff, treasurer.

Birthday honors were given to Schwendemann.

Others present were Marguerite Barker, Elsie Rodell, Elizabeth Briggs, Bernadine Cooley, Anka Filcuff, Bess Henley, Arline Fox, Virginia John, Harriet Horn, Millie Meek and Virginia Roper.

Prayer theme set at Central Christian

"To Pray Is to Listen" will be the theme of the May Fellowship to be held May 5 at Central Christian Church, 2200 Johnson Road.

Registration will be at 10:30 a.m. with services at 11 a.m. There will be a salad luncheon. Tickets are $2 and can be purchased at the door.

A church spokesman said every three people coming should bring a large salad. The program was prepared by

Township passes budgets

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

VENICE TOWNSHIP — The Board of Trustees recently passed budgets for Fiscal Year 1989-90 that included a couple of raises for key officials.

The budgets are:
• Road district: $67,328, up from $40,700 in 1988.
• General town fund: $167,862, up from $164,376 in '88.
• General assistance: $71,050, down from $85,700 in '88.

• Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund: $21,000, down from $23,500 in '88.

• Social Security fund: $12,000, same as '88.

Resolutions were also passed setting salaries and $3,000-per-year allowances for expenses for township officials.

The supervisor's salary remained the same — $12,040 a year.

The town clerk's salary got raised from $6,500 to $7,000.

The assessor's salary got raised from $14,000 to $17,000.

The collector's salary remained the same — $7,200.

John T. Papp got rehired as township attorney at a salary of $6,500 (no change).

All budgets, levies and resolutions passed unanimously 4-0, with all four trustees voting and outgoing Supervisor Christ Pash-off abstaining.

There was little discussion except for when Supervisor-elect and Trustee Richard "Popeye" Paterson introduced a motion to make First National Bank in Madison the sole depository of township funds.

In past years, some 10 percent of the funds were kept in Central Bank of Granite City, Paterson said.

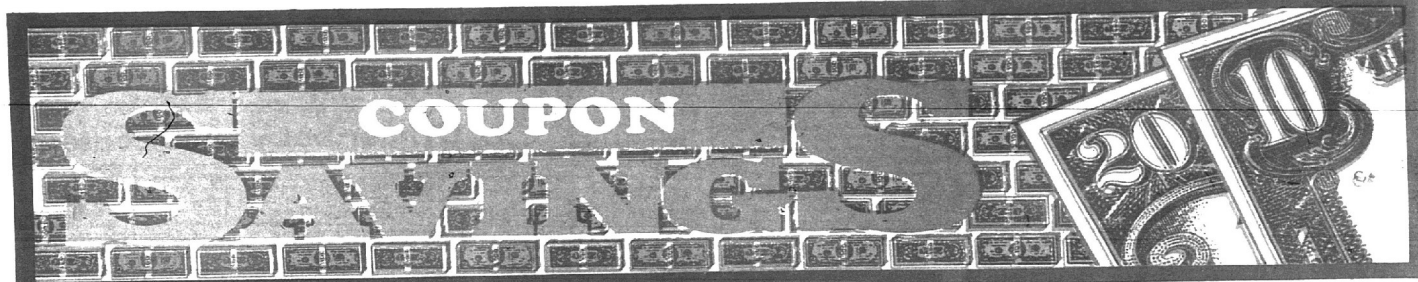

He gave as his reason the fact that First National is in Venice

Township.

Trustee Benjamin Honorable asked whether the township would be locked into getting any required tax anticipation loans from First National, perhaps at unfavorable lending rates.

"We're not locked into getting anticipation warrants (at First National)," Paterson said. "We can shop around."

The motion then carried unanimously.

Another side of apartment issue

To the editor:

This letter is in reply to the letter concerning apartments in your April 16 edition of the Press-Record/Journal.

Dear Mary:

I am a landlord in Granite City. All of my apartments and houses rent in the $185 to $275 a month range.

Do you know why landlords charge first and last month's rent, plus deposit? Let me tell you why. It takes an average of 30 days to evict a person for non-payment of rent. I have yet to evict someone because they lost their job. They were all people who had jobs or were on welfare. They all had to buy drugs or booze instead of pay rent or feed their children. So much for last month's rent.

Now for the deposit. The place almost always has to be sprayed for bugs (contrary to popular opinion, the landlord doesn't install them in his buildings).

It also has to be cleaned (a lot of people don't know what that is), painted ($30 just for the paint) and trash hauled off at $50 a load (average one pickup load of old couches, tires, etc.).

There is no law stating that these deposits have to be charged; they are an economic necessity. P.S. Please don't tell me not to rent to bums; there are a lot of well-dressed bums who all pay their rent on time (just ask them) and they all have sad, sad stories. While I haven't heard them all, I've heard a lot of them.

LEWIS M. SIMPSON

Reports assistance needed by family

To the editor:

To the concerned, kind-hearted people who read the Press-Record/Journal, I am a lady who works for an agency who meets the public everyday. I have met a very needy family and I hope this desperate need will touch other hearts.

A man has a wife and four children. The husband is so afflicted with diabetes that he has had surgery three times this winter. He doesn't heal, so they keep trying by grafting skin which doesn't seem to be helping. He isn't able to work to meet his family's smallest needs, which are mainly the utilities and the rent.

The wife worked as a nurse's aide until Feb. 21. She was going to work, fell on the ice in the parking lot, and is now in a cast and on crutches. She was refused workman's compensation because she was on her way to work and wasn't clocked in yet.

She is trying to get help and will from welfare, but it takes time to get it all started and their dire need is for the present. Since she thought she was eligible for compensation, that slowed things down. They have a shutoff notice for the electric and gas bill effective this week. The bill amounts to over $1,000. The old barn-like house they live in is cold and they pay $300 per month for rent.

I ask for people who are more fortunate to please help these people so that they might begin to see a light at the end of the tunnel. Right now they see only heartbreak and desperation.

I am a citizen who believes that all God's people need help at one time or another and I believe we will be rewarded a hundredfold.

MARGARET MONTINE, Granite City

Come see what Prather has to offer

To the editor:

The following letter is to parents of children at Niedringhaus School:

I attended the school board meeting (recently) at Niedringhaus School concerning boundary lines and transfer students. I found a certain remark disturbing.

When my husband and I were looking for land to build our new home the first question I asked was, "Where will my children go to school?" I was told they would attend Johnson School. One year after we moved into our new home Johnson School was closed. My children had to attend Prather. I too was upset and mad just as you are now. After I started getting involved in school and in PTA I found out that all the ugly rumors I heard were not true.

But for a Niedringhaus parent to leave you with the impression that our kids are rough and our school is considered worst in the district was uncalled for.

The majority of our students are looking for some attention, a hug or a smile. Something they may not receive at home. Other Prather parents felt the sting of the remark and felt it had no place in the meeting.

Debbie Passig, a Prather parent, gave Niedringhaus parents an invitation to come and visit Prather to meet the principal and staff.

I encourage you to come and see what Prather has to offer.

Checkbook returned, friend made

To the editor:

I would like to publicly thank the employees of the McKinley Bridge Office for the time and effort they extended in returning my lost checkbook.

It seems my checkbook fell out of my purse while I was paying bridge fare one afternoon, and I didn't know it was missing until much later that evening. I had no idea where I could have lost it, but I postponed reporting it to my bank until I had the opportunity to search my car and home for it.

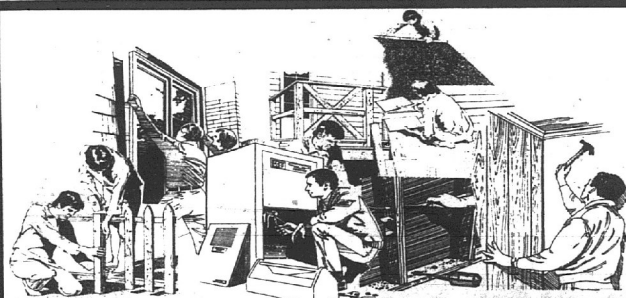

In the meantime, Tom Fields had done everything possible to find me; since I was looking for a new apartment when my checks were printed, I did not have an address printed on them. He called my bank and was able to obtain my telephone number, but he could never catch me at home.

He finally decided to mail the checkbook to me (he also got my home address from the bank). You can imagine my relief when I opened the package and found my missing checkbook.

Since we hear so much about how apathetic everyone is nowadays, I thought you and your readers might like to hear that we still have some Good Samaritans out there among us. Thank you again, Mr. Fields and staff.

CommentBy Dave
WhaleyLet's get on with season

So a large group of Warrior baseball players were caught doing something not too smart a week ago Friday night.

There apparently was a party at which alcohol was one of the premier attractions. As it turned out, 16 varsity players and two sophomores were suspended Monday for four dates, which covers five varsity games. The suspensions will expire in time for Thursday's home double-header against Belleville East.

It is not my desire to make any more of this incident than there already is. But there had to be something done, and the players were dealt the minimum penalty spelled out in the school's policy. They were not suspended from school and continue to practice with the team.

Athletic director Greg Patton said seven families appealed the suspensions on Wednesday. One aspect of the appeal was that not all of the players suspended were drinking at the party. I have no doubt that that was the case. But the fact remained that there was a party at a house where a few members of other teams in town for the Granite City Round Robin Tournament were staying overnight.

Some of those players were in a situation they had no desire to be in and reported the matter to their coach, who confronted Patton with it last Saturday.

Oh, well. It was a bad mistake and the players involved are paying the penalty. It could have been worse. As Patton said, the disciplinary council dealing with the matter had the option to suspend the players for the balance of the season.

But all things considered, nothing too damaging occurred. Patton and head coach Bob Stegmeier are anxious to put the matter behind them and move on.

Stegmeier recalled an incident in 1978 in which several players were suspended right before the regional when he was the coach at Granite City North. The Steelers lost the regional, but came back in 1979 and went to the state tournament.

So such problems can be put aside. It's really hard to say how this will affect the Warriors once all the players are back on the field. It will be hard to forget, but it was merely a "teenage mistake," as Stegmeier said.

Still, it wouldn't be so hard to forget if someone had gone out and wrapped a car around a telephone pole after the party. Fortunately, that didn't happen, and it is hoped the players will use a little more discretion in the future.

I don't like writing about something like this any more than Stegmeier, Patton or any one else at the high school like dealing with it, or any more than the players themselves like being involved with it. I much prefer talking about home runs, stolen bases, ERAs and saves in this space. I hope I can get back to that Wednesday and stick with it.

Meanwhile, several sophomore players will get a chance for some varsity experience for the next couple of games. For Stegmeier, a sneak preview of some of his future varsity players might even be a blessing in disguise.

A lineup featuring five sophomores — four of them making their varsity debut — only lost 10-7 to Belleville East on Wednesday. If Kevin Wozniak — one of the non-suspended players — had pitched as well in the early innings of that game as he had earlier in the year, this youthful group of Warriors might have beaten one of the best teams in the area. Wozniak was 3-0 with a 1.79 ERA before allowing 10 earned runs on Wednesday.

Hats off to sophomores like Ryan Reeves, Jim McKeehan, Mike Nordstrom, Ed Lewis and Rob Terrell for a job well done under difficult circumstances. They will likely have more chances in the spotlight, as will other sophomores for the next couple of games.

The sophomores, along with regulars Wozniak, Joe Wallace, Keith Matlock, Mike Mueller and Jeff Thompson will give it their all for two more games this week — at Alton on Tuesday and at home against New Athens on Wednesday before the regular season reconvenes on Thursday.

Some memories will no doubt linger, but everyone hopes things can go on as before.

Let's get on with the season.

Trittschuh, U.S. ready for rematch

Americans play Costa Rica today
in World Cup qualifier in St. LouisBy Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

ST. LOUIS — The final step towards a berth in the 1990 World Cup won't be an easy one for the United States national soccer team. But Steve Trittschuh doesn't think the Americans are in too big of a hole yet.

Trittschuh, the 1983 Granite City North graduate who is a starting fullback for the national team, is preparing along with his teammates for Sunday's rematch against Costa Rica. The U.S. lost 1-0 in Costa Rica on April 16 in the first of eight games in the five-team bracket from which the top two teams will qualify for next summer's World Cup.

"I don't think it's a real big hole we put ourselves into," said Trittschuh from his hotel room in St. Louis. "I think it might be good that we lost one early. We just didn't have enough intensity in that first game. But we will from now on."

Sunday's game will be played at St. Louis Soccer Park in Fenton at 3 p.m. All 8,500 tickets have been sold in the past week and the game will be televised live on ESPN.

Costa Rica already has two wins and a tie for five points while Guatemala has one point, so the Americans have some catching up to do. Trinidad Tobago and El Salvador are also in the American's qualifying bracket.

"It doesn't matter if we finish first or second, as long as we can go to the World Cup," Trittschuh said. "We should have beaten Costa Rica in the first game. But it always helps playing in St. Louis. All the guys like it here and we always have a good crowd supporting us."

Trittschuh, who didn't see any playing time in the 1988 Olympics, played the whole game at fullback in Costa Rica under Bob Gansler, who succeeded Lothar Osiander as the national team's coach in January.

"I really like him," Trittschuh said of Gansler. "Just about all of us have played for him before, so we know what to expect. As long as I play, I'm happy."

"I think both of them are very capable keepers," Trittschuh said. Jeff is doing well right now, though."

The national team picked up the bronze medal in the five-aside world championships in Holland in January, which didn't surprise Trittschuh and his teammates as much as it did others.

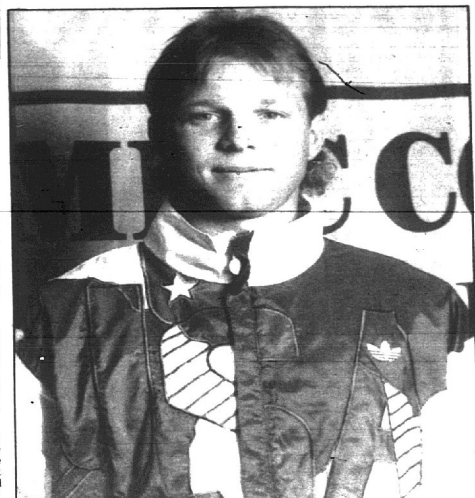

"We've played indoors quite a bit," he said. "It's a little different there, but it still wasn't a surprise to us that we did so well."

The U.S. will play its next qualifying game May 13 in Los Angeles before going to El Salvador in June. The qualifying round will end in October. The team will also be playing in tournaments in New York, Los Angeles and Chicago this year.

"There's one more home game for which the site hasn't been set," Trittschuh said. "So maybe we'll play again in St. Louis."

In addition to preparing for the World Cup, Trittschuh has other things to think about. He's marrying a Collinsville girl on Dec. 9.

His main hope for his first summer as a married man is some time in Italy for the World Cup.

Communication lapse fatal for Lady WarriorsBy Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — If there's one thing Gene Baker stresses above all else to his players, it's the importance of communication on the field.

In case the Lady Warriors didn't believe him before Friday, they do now. A communications breakdown proved to be lethal as Granite City dropped a 1-0 overtime decision to Incarnate Word. The Lady Warriors have gone scoreless in their last two games (prior to Saturday's game at Peoria Notre Dame) and fell to 7-2-1.

It looked like the Lady Warriors were headed for their second straight scoreless tie. It was a tightly-contested game all the way with good scoring chances few and far between. Then about midway through the first of two 10-minute overtimes, junior Jennifer Hagnauer was dribbling the ball back towards her own goal.

She slid the ball to goalkeeper Chris Kasproovich. But what no one told Hagnauer was that Incarnate Word junior Dena Davidson was right behind her. Davidson easily beat Kasproovich on the ball and tucked a shot inside the left post for the game's only goal.

"It certainly wasn't Jennifer's fault," said Baker. "It all comes down to our ability to communicate. It's tough for her because she played a tremendous game. Hagnauer had only recently returned to the lineup after a knee injury and did play a strong game. But she got no verbal help on the critical play. Nothing."

"That's the eighth game we've won this year by a 1-0 score," said Incarnate Word coach Jim Marko. "And it seems like we've always gotten a break like that to get our goal. Our defense has just been outstanding all season. We have all seniors back there. And our goalie (senior Julie Murphy) set a school record today. That was her 16th shut-out."

A lineup featuring five sophomores — four of them making their varsity debut — only lost 10-7 to Belleville East on Wednesday. If Kevin Wozniak — one of the non-suspended players — had pitched as well in the early innings of that game as he had earlier in the year, this youthful group of Warriors might have beaten one of the best teams in the area. Wozniak was 3-0 with a 1.79 ERA before allowing 10 earned runs on Wednesday.

Hats off to sophomores like Ryan Reeves, Jim McKeehan, Mike Nordstrom, Ed Lewis and Rob Terrell for a job well done under difficult circumstances. They will likely have more chances in the spotlight, as will other sophomores for the next couple of games.

The sophomores, along with regulars Wozniak, Joe Wallace, Keith Matlock, Mike Mueller and Jeff Thompson will give it their all for two more games this week — at Alton on Tuesday and at home against New Athens on Wednesday before the regular season reconvenes on Thursday.

Some memories will no doubt linger, but everyone hopes things can go on as before.

Let's get on with the season.

Incarnate Word is 14-1-4. They finished third in the Missouri state tournament last year and Marko feels his club has a good shot at winning it all this season if he can get a little more offense.

"They're definitely a very good team," said Baker. "But you know what? I thought we outplayed them. We just missed on a couple of chances."

Jennifer Debevec was just wide on a free kick shot over a wall of defenders in the second quarter, then Debevec bounced one off the crossbar early in the fourth quarter on a shot from a sharp angle. Murphy also came up big on an early rush by Addie Lenzi.

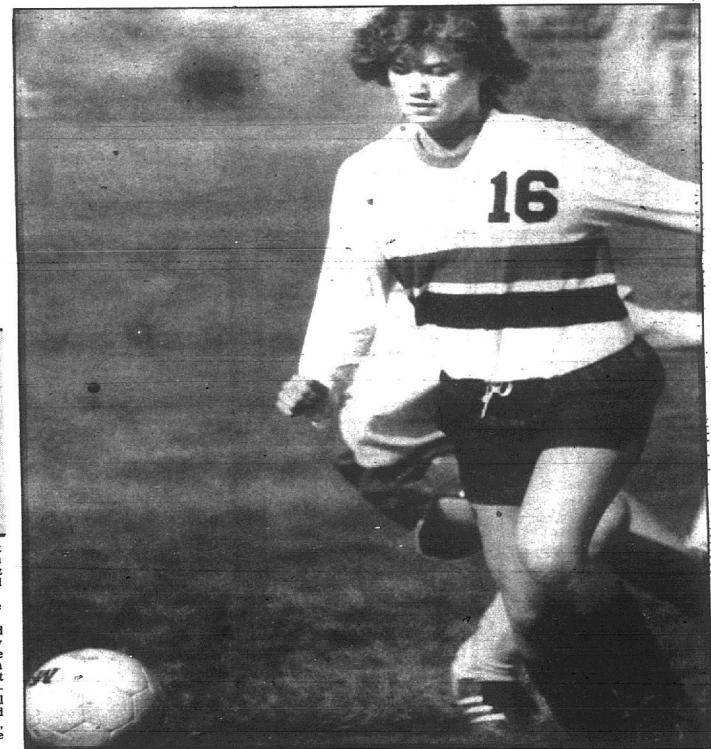

Lady Warrior

Player	G	A	Pts.
Jennifer Debevec	7	37	14
Amber Witter	8	35	16
Jennifer Monti	8	33	16
Addie Lenzi	4	11	8
Cheryl Stacey	1	6	2
Tia Reed	1	3	2
Sherry Simpson	1	13	2

Angela Blason	1	12	2
Jennifer Harper	1	10	2
Rene Walker	1	10	2
Beth Epperson	0	11	0
Carrie Rosa	0	11	0

then she charged out of the net to come away with the ball on a corner kick with Jennifer Monti right on the doorstep in the final minute of regulation.

"Julie really takes charge back there," said Marko. Incarnate Word almost scored a second goal when Tammy Meek hit the crossbar with five minutes left in overtime, then the Lady Warriors had their best chance to tie it with three minutes left. Debevec worked the ball in off a short corner kick and centered one to Shelly Reynolds, whose volley went just over the goal.

Legion season promises more strong competition

By Mike Kelly
Correspondent

HIGHLAND — The American Legion baseball season is right around the corner.

The District 22 season opener is June 1 when Waterloo plays at Marissa. District 22 chairman Wayne Wirz, the manager of the Post 459 team in Highland, can't wait for the new season to start. He feels this season could be even more competitive than it was last year.

"There were some good races last season," he said. "Especially in the North Division, as Alton won the regular season title by one game. Granite City came out of nowhere to win the district championship and Smithton had a super year in the South. This season should be even better, because the high school baseball is this area is very strong this spring. It will supply our league with some fine athletic talent."

If there was a low point last season, it was the performance of Bethalto and Troy, a couple of programs that have struggled in recent years. In the last two seasons, Bethalto and Troy have a combined record of 15-75, but Wirz is willing to stick with them.

"They want to play, and you've got to give them credit," Wirz said. "I wish them the best."

Don Smith will step in as the new manager at Bethalto, replacing Roger Wilkinson, while Rich Beck will stay on for a second season at Troy. A couple of other managerial changes are the league find Karl Doucette replacing Jay Eckhouse at Alton and Lon Fulte taking over for Vern Moehrs at Waterloo.

Fulte led Waterloo High School to the Class A state tournament last spring. Moehrs will devote his time this summer as the manager of the Waterloo Buds of the Mon-Clair League. Moehrs had run both the Legion team and the Buds for the past few summers.

Like last year, the regular season will be cranked up in a six-week package that will conclude July 12. The playoffs will begin July 17. Edwardsville will host the Division I tournament July 27-30; Arlington Heights will host the state tournament Aug. 3-6; and Danville will host the Great Lakes Regional on Aug. 16-20.

Wirz said District 22 would like to bid for the Great Lakes Regional in 1990.

Fairview Heights host the Great Lakes Regional next year, he said. "Both programs have beautiful facilities (Gordon Moore Park and Longacre Park, respectively). Such an opportunity would be a big shot in the arm for our fine league."

Fairview Heights, for the third year in a row, will host the North-South District 22 All-Star Game on July 25, but the district will also participate in two more all-star events. It will compete in the Metro All-Star Game against players from the St. Louis area on July 24 at Heine Meine Field in Lemay, Mo. The district will also send a group of players to Des Moines, Iowa, to play in the AAU Tournament from Aug. 6-12. The AAU team will consist of a 20-man roster, the pitchers selected for the Metro and District all-star games will make the AAU team. The rest of the roster will be made up by selecting the best players from those two games.

"This is just another step to help promote our product," said Wirz. "Something like this will be a reward for our players because it gives them a little trip at the end of the season while allowing them to showcase their talents against the best players from around the country."

Wirz went to the American Legion headquarters in Bloomington on March 11. His top goals were to enter the regular season an extra week, which he accomplished for next year, and to help the Junior Legion program by giving it a state tournament, which will be held in Bloomington in 1990.

"We needed that extra week to give our players some breathing room during the season," Wirz said. "The condensed schedule is just too much."

Wirz also pushed hard for the Junior Legion state tournament. "There's great stuff going on now, and it's good for the young 'Men of Steele' play in Belleville; Journals sponsor home run derby

The Men of Steele are coming back — and so is the Journal/St. Clair Park Metro-East Home Run Derby.

Steele's Silver Bullets, the defending United States Slow-Pitch Softball Association world champions, will play two area teams on May 22 at St. Clair Park, 5989 Old Collinsville Road in Belleville.

The Silver Bullets, sponsored by Coors Light beer, Steele's Sports Company and Bike Athletic Company, rang up some amazing numbers in 1988. They had a record of 365 wins, 19 losses and two ties. They hit 6,331 home runs (an average of 16.4 per game) and had a team batting average of .682.

Steele's will play the St. Clair Park Athletics at 7:30 p.m. and Lono's All-Stars at approximately 9 p.m.

The second annual home run derby, sponsored by the Belleville Journal and St. Clair Park, starts at 6 p.m. For a $5 entry fee, hitters will take five swings. The batter with the most home runs wins $50, a Steele's aluminum softball bat and a trophy.

Last year's winner, Dirk Androff of Belleville, will be unable to defend his title, but he has a good excuse. Several weeks after the contest, the 6-7, 250-pound Androff joined the Silver Bullets and hit .705 with 108 home runs in 72 games. This season, he continues to be one of the team's best hitters.

Proceeds from the home run derby will be split between two local junior sports programs: the Belleville Little Devils and the Belleville Little Knights.

Admission for the Steele's games is $3 per person; there is no charge for children under 13. Gates will open at 4 p.m.

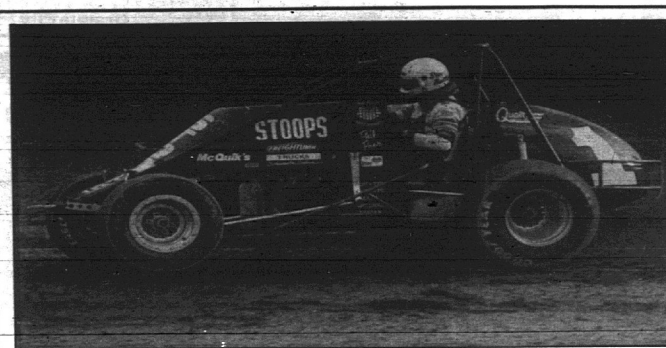

For more information about Steele's appearance or the home run derby, call St. Clair Park at 632-8112 or the Belleville Journal sports department at 277-7000 or 875-2200.

will not be played. Baker said the only date Belleville had was tomorrow, and he said the Lady Warriors couldn't squeeze that in their schedule. Incarnate Word outshot the Lady Warriors 11-8, although Granite City had six corners to two for the visitors. Kasproch made nine saves and Murphy had six. Incarnate Word committed 16 fouls and Granite City only four.

SIUE offering soccer coaching workshop

SIUE will offer a soccer coaching workshop May 15-20.

Sponsored by the Office of Continuing Education, the workshop is scheduled from 6-9 p.m. May 15-19 and from 9 a.m. to noon on May 20. Registration is $35. The workshop is designed for those who have a basic understanding and knowledge of the game through coaching or playing. Those satisfactorily completing the course will be eligible to receive a state "E" license from the Illinois State Soccer Association.

Ed Humeke, head soccer coach at SIUE and a national "A" licensed coach, will be the instructor. The curriculum will be designed in accordance with national and state coaching rules and teaching concepts.

ger players because it gives them a higher goal to shoot for," he said. "We've got 19 junior teams this season, and we just want to make our package more attractive — something that will create more interest for the players."

On the junior level this season, Wood River will field a team while Dupu and Bethalto will drop their programs. The decision by Dupu will help Cahokia's junior program, which will inherit the Dupu players.

NOTES: Granite City will host the District 22 Junior Legion finals July 29-30 at Varsity Field.

It will feature the final eight teams, with the four quarterfinal games on Saturday, and the semifinals, third place and championship games on Sunday. Paul Kacera, Marty LeVault and Carl Benson return to coach the Granite City Optimists of the Junior Legion league. CHARLIE CHAPLIN, right, and Buster Keaton star in classic "Limelight."

Chaplin's 100th birthday brings re-release of 11 titles on video

Charlie Chaplin is better known today for his waddle than for his films. The pocket-sized actor, often hailed as the greatest film comedian of all time, has been reduced these days by impersonators to a derby hat, a cane and a pile of IBM computers. Even his mustache seems borrowed from Adolf Hitler, which of course is ridiculous, because Chaplin sported it decades earlier.

April 16 was the 100th anniversary of Chaplin's birthday, and Key Video — hoping to celebrate the event as well as cash in on it — has re-released 11 Chaplin titles, from a "Chaplin Revue" of short films shot in 1918 to the long-suppressed "A King in New York" (1957, Key, $19.98).

Chaplin, who died in 1977, ranks as the first king of the hyphen-crazy film artists. He often weighed in as actor-director-producer-writer. For good measure, he sometimes added musical composer and played the two leading roles, as he did in "The Great Dictator" (1940).

The United States — fearful of his supposed Communist leanings — refused to allow him to enter the country starting in 1952.

"I have no further use for America," Chaplin said at the time. "I wouldn't go back there if Jesus Christ was president." But he did go back, for a special Academy Award in 1972.

The families of his four brides probably were not all too thrilled with him either. Chaplin was the Jerry Lee Lewis of his day. His first two wives were 16 years old at their respective nuptials. Chaplin was 54 when he married his fourth wife, Oona O'Neill, granddaughter of the famous playwright Eugene O'Neill; she was 18 on her wedding night.

British-born Chaplin, who in 1975 was knighted Sir Charles, first earned his almost unmatched international popularity from his silent "Little Tramp" films made in Hollywood beginning in 1913.

Sound rolled in in 1927, but Charlie turned a deaf ear. "City Lights" (1931) and "Modern Times" both remained silent.

"The Great Dictator" combines some of Chaplin's great physical comedy with enough dialogue to keep modern audiences following along. In 1940, prewar Chaplin had the courage to spoof Nazi Germany.

Chaplin's satirical propaganda speeches is hilarious. Equally funny is Jack Oakie's version of Benito Mussolini, the Benito Mussolini character, who sounds like a cross between Guido Sarducci and Orson Welles.

His other four films with sound offer more problems and were roundly beaten on by contemporary critics, but each contains moments of Chaplin at his physical-comedy best.

In "King in New York," he plays a deposed monarch who flees to New York and winds up sucked into the world of advertising.

"Limelight" (1928) is a bit too sappy-sentimental. The story tracks an aging comedian and the suicidal young girl he saves to become a famous dancer.

"Monsieur Verdoux" (1947) aims to be a black comedy, showing society's hypocrisy at being appalled by a wife killer but not by the mass-murdering in war. "Countess from Hong Kong" (1957), starring Marlon Brando and Sophia Loren, isn't available on tape, and was a bomb at release.

Watch "The Great Dictator," and then try "Modern Times" and "Gold Rush."

Chaplin deserves to be more than a computer salesman.

At Grant's Farm, go on safari close to home, inexpensive

By Pamela Selbert
Staff affiliate

If you'd love to take a safari to some exotic land but can't afford it, Grant's Farm, home to the only existing hand-built home of a U.S. president, is the place to come.

The 281-acre "farm" is home to more than 200 wild animals visitors can view from a safari "train."

Visitors can gawk at trained macaws performing tricks and trained birds of prey soaring past just overhead. But it's not all look, but don't touch: Baby goats can be bottle-fed.

Upon arrival, cross over the stream at the Farm's entrance, and you'll come to Grant's Station, where a "trackless" train will be waiting. On either side of the path are woods awakening in spring, filled with lovely violets and daffodils. Lovely peacocks — white females, shimmering turquoise males — and many longhorn cattle take their ease.

The train takes you to the Bauernhof area, where there are horses not much bigger than large dogs ("bred down from large draft horses to work the silver mines in Argentina," the guide said). Each of the four is expecting a colt this spring. The tiny horses are delighted to come to the fence for a pat.

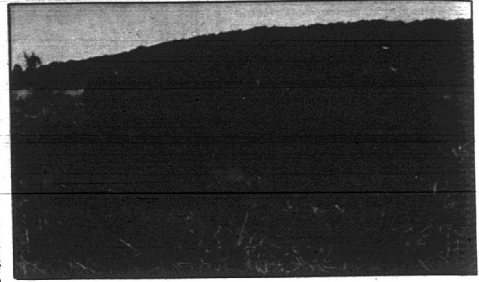

Follow the guide's direction by foot, and you'll come to the Tier Garten, (animal garden) where more animals await. Pens here hold fuzzy bunnies, unusual hens and roosters with frowny topknots, African pygmy goats, red kangaroos, ostrich-like emus, tiny black bears.

And surrounded by a lovely aqua-colored moat is an island where several monkeys — white-handed gibbons — swing in their tree.

For 25 cents, visitors may purchase bottles of milk to feed the eager baby goats — be sure to bring along your camera to record the event.

In the Tier Garten is the Farm's amphitheater, where bird and elephant shows are held many times each day.

Perches on stage are full of gorgeous exotic birds — nine bright macaws; green, turquoise, or red; and three snow-white cockatoos wait to perform. Watch two macaws race to be the first to stack wooden rings on a stick, or two "harnessed" macaws pull a miniature Anheuser-Busch wagon with still another macaw on board.

BUFFALO such as these, along with white tail and spotted deer, longhorn cattle, zebra, ostriches and goats can be found in the 160-acre Deer Park at Grant's Farm.

This bird show is performed six times each day, every hour on the quarter hour: 9:15, 10:15 and 11:15 a.m., and 1:15, 2:15 and 3:15 p.m.

Then, at 11:30 a.m., 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. are the Bird of Prey shows. These shows are new at Grant's Farm this season.

Lucas, the red-tailed hawk, D.J. the peregrin falcon, and Scotty the American kestrel draw gasps by soaring overhead from one keeper to another. Many of these day feeders are severely endangered, having been relentlessly pursued by farmers and ranchers who wrongly believed the birds were killing their livestock.

Arthur, the great horned owl — who can rotate his head an incredible 270 degrees — is a marvelous flyer. Sydney, the Australian eagle, is similar to our golden eagle; a vulture is also brought out for viewing. The endangered species.

Also in the amphitheater, elephant shows are performed at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m., and at 2:30 p.m.

From the Tier Garten, you can walk back to the Bauernhof. Visitors to Bauernhof today may spend as much time as they like roaming among the two dozen or so horse-drawn carriages collected by the Busch family and housed in a huge room here. All were pulled by Hackney horses, an English breed.

Some of these horses are stabled here, and displayed are the many ribbons and trophies won by Busch-owned horses. Also here is a large refreshment area where visitors may snack or eat a complete lunch.

The trackless train will take you through the game preserve. In the 160-acre Deer Park are white tail and spotted deer, buffalo, longhorn cattle, zebra, ostriches and goats. Goats stand like sentinels atop a man-made "mountain." The train passes Grant's cabin, built in 1856.

The train returns to Grant's Station, where the Clydesdales are stabled at the far end of the parking lot.

Grant's Farm is open Thursday through Sunday from April 15 until May 31; Tuesday through Sunday, June 1 to Aug. 31, and on Thursday through Sunday, Sept. 1 to Oct. 15. Tours are free, but reservations are required. Tour times are 9, 10, 11 a.m., and 1, 2 and 3 p.m. For more information or reservations, call (314) 845-1700.
